Course Title: Intermediate Italian 2 & Advanced Italian 1

Course Code: ITAL2020-3010

Total Hours: 105

Recommended Credits: 6

Suggested Cross Listings: Italian Language

Language of Instruction: Italian

Prerequisites/Requirements: Required for students with 3 semesters of previous Italian language study

Description

This course is aimed at students who have had approximately 3 terms of previous Italian language study or its equivalent. This is an integrated course—students improve proficiency in all four areas of communication (reading, writing, listening and speaking). During the first part, grammar structures and vocabulary are learned not as an end in and of themselves but as a means to acquiring ability in these areas. Students use the textbook and other materials and complete both spoken and written assignments as individuals and in small groups. The second part introduces students to more complex grammar structures via texts meant for native speakers, with the goal that students will expand their lexicon and learn to speak the language with confidence and accuracy.

Objectives

By the end of the course, students are able to:

- Deal successfully with most situations likely to arise while travelling in an area where the language is spoken.
- Function in Italian in the classroom and in general society about day-to-day issues.
- Understand a wide range of upper-level, lengthy texts, and recognize implicit meaning
- Express themselves fluently and spontaneously.

Course Requirements

Homework is assigned for each class. Students should complete all assignments on their own before coming to class. Homework may include listening to audio materials, memorizing new patterns and vocabulary, completing written assignments, reviewing material learned in class the day previous, etc. Many assignments are reviewed together in class.

Class attendance is essential to language learning. An absent student misses important information and practice time, and hinders the group work and discussion exercises of classmates. Tardiness is disrespectful to both the professor and students. If a student is more than 10 minutes late to a class, he/she is marked as absent.

Students who know ahead of time that they will be absent should submit homework assignments early. They should also understand that they are responsible for learning the material on their own time. Asking the professor “What did I miss?” is not acceptable. Students may check with classmates about changes in the syllabus, assignments, etc., and ask the professor for any hand-outs.

Methods of Evaluation

Students are evaluated in the four language areas (speaking, listening, reading, writing) through quizzes, written and oral tests and class performance. Class performance refers to active participation in class, with both classmates and the professor.

Missed quizzes and exams may not be made up without appropriate documentation of an excused absence from the Resident Director.

The instructor will monitor student participation on a daily basis. You will lose points for speaking in English during class.

Quizzes and final exam. There will be quizzes and a final exam for each course. There are no make-up exams. Missed quizzes and exams may not be made up without appropriate documentation from the Resident Director. Failure to attend the final exam results in an F for the course.

Composition. Students will practice the vocabulary and grammar studied in class in written work based on the readings and web research done outside of class. There will be two (2) graded compositions. These will be corrected by the instructor using symbols, and then rewritten by the student guided by the symbols. Grades on all written work are based on accuracy of grammar and vocabulary as well as content, organization, and style. The grades for the compositions will be based on both the first draft and the rewritten final version. Students who do not turn in a rewritten final version will receive a zero. No make-ups.
