Program: CET Brazil: Social Justice and Inequality in São Paulo

Course Code / Title: (SP/LANG 200) Intermediate Portuguese I

Total Hours: 60

Recommended Credits: 3

Primary Discipline / Suggested Cross Listings: Portuguese Language

Language of Instruction: Portuguese

Pre-requisites/Requirements: Required for students with 2 semesters of previous Portuguese language instruction

Description

This course is aimed at students who have had approximately 2 terms of previous Portuguese language instruction or its equivalent. Course contents cover intermediate structures and vocabulary in Brazilian Portuguese with a communicative approach so that they can enhance their language knowledge and expand it to more elaborate utterances.

Language and culture are combined in grammar exercises to provide students with actual linguistic perception and effective communicative tools and strategies in an intermediate level. Students use materials devised by our staff. The course applies a task-based learning approach, thus providing students with broader communicative skills in a natural context for language use.

Final placement at discretion of Academic Director.

Objectives

By the end of the course, students are able to:

- Work out language rules by themselves.
- Interact with a degree of fluency and spontaneity that makes regular interaction with native speakers quite possible without strain for either party.
- Produce clear, detailed text on a wide range of subjects and explain a viewpoint on a topical issue giving the advantages and disadvantages of various options.
- Use cultural and linguistic tools to engage in more complex problem solving.
- Communicate in routine tasks requiring a somewhat complex exchange of information.
- Solve communication conflicts effectively without disrupting interaction.
- Describe present and past events.
- Hold discussions that require simple hypothetical patterns.

Course Requirements

Class attendance and participation are essential to language learning. An absent student misses important information and practice time, and hinders the group work and discussion exercises of classmates. Tardiness is disrespectful to both the professor and students.

Students who know ahead of time that they will be absent should submit homework assignments early. They should also understand that they are responsible for learning the material on their own time. Asking the professor "What did I miss?" is not acceptable. Students may check with classmates about changes in the syllabus, assignments, etc., and ask the professor for any handouts

Gradings

Students are evaluated in the four language areas (speaking, listening, reading, writing) through quizzes, written and oral tests, and class performance. Class performance refers to active participation in class, with both classmates and the professor. Communicative competence is also evaluated, i.e. students' actual ability to interact in Portuguese and to solve problems not only by using appropriate language, but also by fitting in social frameworks in a linguistically suitable way.

Missed quizzes and exams may not be made up without appropriate documentation of an excused absence from the Resident Director.

The final grade is determined as follows:

- 2 Exams: 30%
- 2 Quizzes: 20%
- Assignments: 20%
- Final Project/Seminar: 20%
- Homework and participation: 10%

Exams. Students take a mid-term exam and a final exam. Exams include all contents covered in class. Failure to attend exam results in a "zero". Make-up exams are allowed on a case-by-case basis.

Quizzes. Quizzes are short tests that are not previously announced. There are no make-up quizzes. Quiz grades are part of the final grade as well as graded homework.

Assignments. These include compositions, cross-cultural activities, journals, film reviews, literature papers and/or any kind of language-related piece of work assigned by the professor. Cross-cultural activities are short essays written as a result of student's experience while attending a local event about Brazilian culture/history/society. Normally the professor uses the activities scheduled in the program to inquire students about their experience. All assignments must be the student's original work, and use of translating programs results in a "zero".

Final Project/Seminar. The students have to prepare a paper and/or a presentation about a Brazil theme. Seminars are usually 15-minute presentations to the class. Final projects can be previously recorded videos or a short well-reasoned essay about a literary book that might be read during the course or any other theme as defined by the professor. If a literary book is chosen for the semester, this is done according to the level and profile of students.

Homework and participation. All homework should be handed in by the date defined by the professor, and must be completed as indicated by the professor. Homework that is incomplete or late is not accepted. Students are expected to participate in Portuguese only during each class period. The instructor monitors student participation every class. Your attendance, daily preparation and active participation in class not only contribute to your learning, but are also important factors in determining your grade in participation.

A list of local events and assignment guidelines is provided by the instructor or CET staff.

Attendance

Attendance requirements are outlined in the CET Attendance Policy.
